Zoning sets the rules for development in your community.

Zoning shapes your built environment.

Zoning protects your investment, safety, health and general welfare.

Indy Rezone seeks to change the rules!

The planning has been done, now is the time to change the rules to implement the plan. You are invited to provide input into what those rules for development will and will not address.

Zoning establishes the base level of standards to which our community is developed. These standards need to be sustainable both economically and environmentally. By changing the rules that result in a development pattern that the community desires, it is easier and more predictable for development to occur and prosper.
